JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY STUDIES
IN HISTORICAL AND POLITICAL SCIENCE.

HERBERT B. ADAMS, Editor.

BALTIMORE
AND THE
NINETEENTH OF APRIL, 1861.

A STUDY OF THE WAR.

By GEORGE WILLIAM BROWN,

Chief Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore and Mayor of the City in 1861.

SECOND EDITION.

The Editor of the Johns Hopkins University Studies in Historical and Political Science announces the Second Edition of the above work for publication as an EXTRA VOLUME of the Series. The position of Judge Brown as Mayor of Baltimore in 1861 gave him exceptional opportunities for observing and understanding the municipal situation. His unflinching devotion to official duty in marching through Pratt street at the head of the Massachusetts Sixth Regiment, on the 19th of April, in the midst of a furious mob, will inspire confidence in his account of the events of that day. The concurrent testimony of Baltimoreans, of different political opinions, confirms Judge Brown's historical statement as the most accurate that has thus far been written. The events leading to the 19th of April and immediately following that date are frankly discussed. Judge Brown's point of view is that of many leading citizens of Maryland. He has attempted to describe the position of the middle, or peace party. Judge Brown's study is a contribution to a better understanding of the state of society and of public feeling in the border lands between the North and the South in 1861. After the lapse of a quarter of a century American citizens have learned to hear with interest and appreciation both sides in the story of battles and campaigns. A Maryland view of past politics may serve to enlighten the Present and instruct the Future.

The volume will comprise about 150 pages, octavo, and will be sold, bound in cloth, at $1; and at reduced rates to regular subscribers to the "Studies."

"This Magazine occupies a position which no other periodical approaches, and is always conducted with signal ability."—Troy Budget.

"This is one of the few periodicals that, in spite of restriction to a special field, pleases the general reader quite as much as the historian and antiquarian."—N. Y. Independent.

MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY.

The January Number, 1887, opened the Seventeenth Volume.

The attractions which the publishers of the MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY have prepared for their readers for the current year are manifold, and of the most novel, varied, and charming character. The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "The accomplished Editor has demonstrated that variety and entertainment and a bright and pleasing style may accompany the presentation of historical material of interest to readers of to-day, as well as of untold value to the future historian." Among the notable features for 1887 is the series of papers on the rise, progress, and development of journalism in America, the beginnings of which are traced in a masterly manner by the Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin, in the January and February issues. These intensely interesting papers are accompanied by a unique style of illustration, as original and pleasing as it is valuable. Rare portraits of many of the prominent early editors are given, and fac-similes of headings of the early newspapers—a collection that will be prized more and more as the years roll on. To the March and May numbers of this periodical, Mr. Moncure D. Conway will contribute some picturesque chapters on old and new Fredericksburg, Virginia, and among the choice illustrations will be found a fac-simile of the will of Mary Washington, made directly from the original, by permission of the authorities of that interesting old town.

PUBLIC OPINION CONCERNING IT.

"THE MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY is a perpetual delight both to the student and general reader, for it grows in value and interest with each new issue."—Ottawa Free Trader.

"The distinguished ability with which it is conducted has made it an indispensable visitor to the table of authors and scholars, as well as a popular favorite."—Boston Home Journal.

"This periodical has a hold upon the past which lies between formal history and the events of the day. It is constantly gathering up the neglected facts of history, and giving them the shape in which they will ultimately find expression in the story of the growth of the nation. This magazine was never better edited than it is to-day; it so mediates between the past and the present that it is almost as fresh as if it treated of the issues of our own time."—Boston Herald.

"There are many readers who would enjoy it more than a novel."—Christian Intelligencer.

"Few magazines would be missed as much as this elegantly contrived, excellently written one, dealings with topics that connect the new with the old."—Hartford Post.

"It never fails to please and instruct the reader. Its field is wide. It gathers up thrilling historic events that have escaped the historians, and puts them into such shape as to make them valuable for all time. What a treasure its files will be to the future historian!"—Cumberland Presbyterian.

"It is one of the most valuable and carefully edited journals of the day."—Sacramento Record-Union.

"No periodical of its class ranks higher, whether its subjects, its careful editing, or its illustrations are considered."—Princeton Press.
